It behooves our churches to exert themselves to rectify a condition which is no longer creditable to them. COMMENTS ON THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION. I am much interested in the idea of not allowing drill in the practical affairs of a parish to crowd out a more scholarly training of our ministers than ever before, particularly in the history of religions, the history of philosophic thought, modern psychology and ethics, and sociology. To this end plans must be made for students to attend to their studies, and not preach so much. In a word, mediocrity and meagre or false education must be overcome, or no amount of technical skill will enable our young ministry to be superior to the odds against it. COMMENTS ON THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION. The appointment of this Commission grew out of the strong conviction that the three schools in which our Unitarian ministers are trained are not adequately fulfilling the purpose for which they were founded. It is presumed that they were founded that we might have educated and efficient ministers to serve our churches. The programme of the work of this Commission might include: --1. Evidence that the schools are in some radical way failing to do what we have a right to expect of them, indicating the reasons for failure. 2. An assembling of the functions which a theological school should fulfil. 3. The outline of an ideal programme of instruction classifying studies as: --(1) Indispensable,...
