General Accounting Office, 2001 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)54514764 Subject: Fines (Penalties) -- United States. Excerpt: . . . Lastly, CMS does not have formal written policies and procedures for determining its allowance for uncollectible accounts. As previously noted, CMS stated that its allowance for uncollectible accounts represents the balance of all CMP debt delinquent for 60 days or longer that is considered to be inactive and truly delinquent based on a case-by-case review of each receivable. According to SFFAS No. 1, losses due to uncollectible amounts should be measured through a systematic methodology with an analysis of both individual accounts and a group of accounts as a whole. Individual account analysis should be based on factors such as the debtors ability to pay and the probable recovery of amounts from secondary sources. Group analysis should be performed using a method such as statistical estimation by modeling or sampling and should take into consideration such factors as historical loss experience and recent economic events. However, CMS allowance for uncollectible accounts is not based on a systematic analysis of the collectibility...
